

Draft Special Contract Provisions for EHR/EMR Purchase Discussions

(As of May 26, 2009)

CORHIO has been designated by the Governor as the state-level entity for the purposes of ARRA support. In working to support organizations and practitioners in their efforts to utilize ARRA health technology funds to their best ability, CORHIO is offering the attached language for practitioners to use with any health information technology vendors that are offering solutions to meet the ARRA provisions and provide potential solutions to the issue of complying with the ARRA requirements that are still under development.

Two terms that are important for practitioners to focus on and understand that they are still being defined are:

“Meaningful Use” (more information available at www.corhio.org/ARRA/ARRA.html)
“certified EHR technology”

In order to help make sure that any purchased product serves the practitioners needs and will meet the ARRA requirements as well as be useful within the Colorado framework of standards and interoperability, the attached language can be attached to “license and service agreements” for electronic health records/electronic medical records (“EHR/EMRs”) agreement if the practitioner and the vendor agree.

This document is not a substitute for legal counsel during contract review or negotiation with a vendor. CORHIO strongly recommends that all providers maintain/attain legal review to assure appropriate compliance and terms related to any contract.

This information is being provided to you through your membership organization, please contact that organization if you have questions regarding legal counsel options.

CORHIO will continue to offer updates on ARRA on the website. Please visit the website <http://www.corhio.org/ARRA/ARRA.html> for more information.
